DIPLOMAS AWARDED TO TWENTY-NINE BOYS AND GIRLS

Graduating Exercises of Class of 1911 of Greensboro High School Held Last Night—Address by Prof. Chase—Scholarships Awarded.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1911 of the Greensboro High School were held last evening in the opera house, a large number of patrons of the school and friends being present to witness the exercises. The opera house stage was decorated with flowers and plants. The High School chorus, composed of about a hundred girls of the school occupied tiers of seats arranged on the stage just in the rear of the graduating class.

After a song by the chorus, "The Dance of the Fairies," Dr. J. L. Mann introduced the speaker of the occasion, H. W. Chase, professor of pedagogy of the State University. Prof. Chase made a scholarly address, in which he brought out many beautiful thoughts.

He spoke of the fact that many people often pointed to the old time schools and the success of those who attended them, asking why couldn't the present generation be taught by the same methods. The old methods if in use now would be an utter failure, he said, because of the fact that social conditions had changed and the system of education must be changed to meet the changed social conditions. He declared that in a few years the methods of education would be entirely different from what they are today and he urged the members of the graduating class and others present to begin to prepare for these changed methods. He pointed out the fact that all could not be taught by the same methods and under the same system and cited the schools in which certain studies are pursued to suit the needs of the individual scholars. Some are taught agriculture, some mechanics, some physics, others commercialism, etc.

If the system of education cannot form character it is a dismal failure, said Prof. Chase, and the same is true if it does not teach the students to work. Those who receive the best instruction possible under the methods in vogue owe it to their town to put forth their best efforts to serve the interests of their town. "If the system of education does not teach boys and girls to work for bigger and higher things it is a failure. Turning to the graduates Prof. Chase said "much has been done for you and much is now to be expected of you."

After a semi-chorus, "Old Kentucky Home," by a chorus of some two dozen boys and girls Superintendent Mann arose and presented the prizes and diplomas. In presenting the diplomas Dr. Mann stated that he regretted that he had not known the class longer, having been with the schools for but one session. He assured each graduate that it would afford himself, the members of the faculty and the commissioners of the city great pleasure if the graduates felt that they had only learned to think during the time they had been in school. He impressed them with the truth that knowledge of greatest value is not to be found in books. His farewell message was "God bless you, boys and girls."

The scholarship to the University of North Carolina was won by Curtis Holland, who made an average of 94 in his studies during the session. The scholarship to Trinity College was won by Adger Forney, who made an average of 92 during the session. The Scholarship to Washington and Lee was won by Hymen Mendelsohn, who averaged 90 1-2 during the session. Dr. Mann stated that he felt that it was his duty to state that Miss Agnes Ellinwood averaged 94. The girl making the next highest average was Miss Sarah Monroe, who averaged 91 1-2.

Dr. Mann also announced the following prize winners: For the best sketch on North Carolina Revolutionary History, $10 in gold offered by Guilford Battle Chapter D. A. R., won by Miss Mary Moore; Essay prize, won by Miss Sarah Monroe; best short story in High School Annual, won by Sidney Gales; best drawing in High School Annual, won by Miss Hilda Ogburn; best poem in High School Annual, won by Miss Eleanor Moore; debaters prize, won by Charles Moseley.

The exercises closed with the singing of "Soldiers Chorus."

The twenty-nine graduates receiving diplomas were:

Oak Ridge, May 19.—The annual inter-society debate at Oak Ridge took place last night before an audience crowding the chapel. The question was, "Resolved: That the Canadian Reciprocity Treaty as submitted to Congress by President Taft, should be adopted."

The affirmative was debated by Luther Hamilton of Atlantic, and M. T. Bobbitt of Mebane, on the part of the Athenian Society. The Philomathian Society was represented by F. M. Barnes of Wilson, and J. M. Withers of Lillington, who spoke in the negative.

The judges were Messrs. A. B. Kimball, Wayland Cook, and W. E. Allen of Greensboro. The debater's medal was awarded to Luther Hamilton of Atlantic. The judges decided the question in the negative.

Miss Harriet Quimby May Be First American Woman to Win License to Pilot Aeroplane.

Miss Harriet Quimby of San Francisco hopes to attain the distinction of being the first American woman to obtain an aviator's license. She is making daily flights at the aviation school at Garden City, N. Y., in a monoplane. Miss Quimby has had considerable experience in motoring and thinks sky-scraping hardly more dangerous than riding in a high power automobile. A far greater number of American women drive cars than do English or French women, and yet there are already several French women aviators. Miss Quimby doesn't see why we shouldn't have some good American women air pilots.

BURNED TO DEATH AFTER SAVING LIVES OF OTHERS

A. B. Kimball yesterday morning received a message from Oxford stating that his father and sisters had narrowly escaped being burned to death Thursday night in a fire which destroyed the building in which they were living and that they had to jump from a second story window to escape death. The message stated that they were not seriously injured. Mr. Kimball left at once for the scene.

According to the report, Mr. Kimball's father and daughters, Misses Alice, Minnie and Maude Kimball, were occupying rooms over their store, pending the rebuilding of their home which was destroyed by fire about a year ago. They were awakened by the miller, who slept in the mill adjoining, and all escape, except from the windows, was cut off. The miller after arousing the family reentered his room in the mill, which was a mass of flames, and was burned to death. His name was not known to Mr. Kimball, having recently moved to the place from Asheville. The loss is estimated at $60,000 only partly covered by insurance.

FLORIDA MELONS EARLIEST ON RECORD

Special to Telegram.

Candler, Fla., May 19.—The first car of watermelons of the season was loaded here today for the New York market, and brought $400. This is the earliest date on which melons have ever been shipped from here. The vines from which this shipment was made were from seed planted in January and the vines were covered during the cold weather.

LUMBER Dealers Charged With Conspiring to Maintain High Prices and Blacklist Companies

New York, May 19.—Sweeping charges of a gigantic conspiracy to maintain high prices and blacklist companies not considered to be acting to the interests of the trade and to violate the Sherman law generally are made in the government suit filed here against the alleged lumber trust by Attorney General Wickersham in the United States court.

Ten trade organizations, and one hundred and fifty individuals are named as defendants in the suit, which is against the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, the central body covering nine locals and five states, and including Baltimore, Philadelphia and the District of Columbia.

The government alleges that by an elaborate plan of blacklisting and unlawful acts and agreements the trust compels individuals and the largest corporations to buy its products exclusively.

SPECULATOR SUICIDED IN CENTRAL PARK

New York, May 19.—Col. Henry O. Zeixas, who was a nervous wreck as a result of worrying over stock market losses, was found dead in Central Park this afternoon. He had shot himself through the head. He was seventy years of age and was director in several large corporations. He belonged to a well-known New Orleans family.

It is said that Col. Zeixas' injuries received in a trolley accident about a year ago, from which he never fully recovered, were possibly the cause of his ending his life. He was a colonel in the Confederate Army and was a typical old school southerner. He had been for years a social recluse.

COTTON MEN WILL TAKE ACTION CONCERNING EXCHANGES

Special to Telegram.
Richmond, Va., May 19.—The Cotton Manufacturers' Association before final adjournment is expected to take further action concerning the cotton exchanges. This is the information given out today.

The technical subjects discussed at this morning's session were "Gin Compression," by W. A. Gilreath, of Greenville, S. C.; "Illumination of Mills," by J. M. Smith of Cleveland; "Present Status of the Cotton Spinning Industry the World Over," by J. M. Chesman of New York; "Importance and Possibility of Cotton Goods Export Association," by Howard Ayres of New York.

The committee reports and election of officers will close the convention.

Warehouse Project.

It is announced that the cotton men of New Orleans are planning to spend several million dollars on a gigantic warehouse project, designed to revolutionize America's cotton business. Philip St. George Cooke, who is attending the meeting of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association, says: "Our plan is to utilize the warehouses to assemble and store the cotton. We believe the plan will greatly benefit the farmers and prove a convenience to the buyers."

AYCOCK TO ANNOUNCE FOR THE SENATE RACE

That is Opinion in Raleigh at Present—Said That Definite Statement will be Issued to Sunday Newspapers --- Mr. Aycock out of City.

Special to Telegram.
Ex-Gov. Charles B. Aycock has decided to enter the race for the United States Senate. This is the confident opinion here.

On inquiry at the Aycock home tonight it was learned from a member of the family that a definite statement as to the candidacy of Mr. Aycock would be issued for the Sunday newspapers.

He is in Washington, North Carolina, tonight and will return home tomorrow.

Raleigh, May 19.—Those in touch with the political situation here so far as it bears on the three candidates now in the field for the United States Senate, Senator Simmons, Governor Kitchin and Chief Justice Clark haven't the least sort of expectation that there will be any resignations of the offices that candidates now hold. Senator Simmons could not be expected to resign. Chief Justice Clark is quoted as stipulating that he will resign if Governor Kitchin and Senator Simmons will both resign.

However, there comes an authoritative report that Governor Kitchin declares he is ready to resign the governorship any day that the chief justice will resign his place on the bench and both get in the contest, untrammelled by present office, for the Simmons senatorial edge. However, there is conceded to not be the least bit of probability of any vacancy in either the executive office or the chief justiceship from this cause.

There is no indication yet from ex-Governor Aycock as to whether he will be a candidate for the Senate. However, the indications are that this matter will be settled within the next few days. Opinion is much and right evenly divided as to whether he will or will not enter the race. The odds, possibly, are that he will not.

WALTZES WELL AT 90.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon Outdone By New York State Man.

Hornell, N. Y., May 19.—Celebrating his ninetieth birthday, Christopher Gladly last night danced a waltz with his great-granddaughter. Although he had not danced in 60 years he was more nimble than any of his eight children, who witnessed the performance. The other guests included 34 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

HAD ONLY 774,358 BABIES

French Birth Rate for 1910 Lowest in One Hundred Years.

Paris, May 19.—France's births in 1910, just made public, were 774,358, the lowest in a century. Dr. Bertillon says there is "no reason for France thus resigning herself shamefully to suicide."

ANTI-NEWSPAPER BILL.

Would Make It Illegal to Extract Promises From Candidates.

Columbus, Ohio, May 19.—The Committee on Privileges of the Ohio Senate reported out today the Kimble bill, drafted by the Representative from Adams county, which places several restrictions on the newspapers of the State. As it stands now, it is aimed at corrupt practice. One paragraph states that if a newspaper exacts a promise from a candidate for office its editor or proprietor shall serve six months in jail and pay from $100 to $500 fine. Also the writer of any articles which seeks to secure a promise shall be given a similar sentence.

Another paragraph in the measure says that if any newspaper shall refuse to publish a candidate's answer to any attacks or charges in that newspaper the same publication shall be guilty of "corrupt practices," and shall stand a similar sentence and fine.

Error in Congressional Record.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 19.—In the House this afternoon Representative Kendall called attention to the fact that the Congressional Record in its report of Congressman J. M. Gudger's (of N. C.) reciprocity speech by a curious slip made the concluding sentence of the speech read "Trade privileges of the greatest government should be used for the people who float the 'Stars and Bars.'" The House took no action regarding the error.

SITE PURCHASED FOR STATE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Grimes Property Secured by Building Commission for $45,000—Work on Building, Which will Contain Five Stories, will Begin at Early Date.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 19.—The State Building Commission today purchased the Grimes property, fronting 210 feet on Capital Square and 87 feet each on Fayetteville and Salisbury streets as a site for the $250,000 State administration building, paying $45,000 for it to the Grimes estate corporation. It was first offered two weeks ago for $50,000.

An old building on the corner of this lot is now occupied by the State Department of Insurance. It is three stories and was first the Bank of New Bern building and was in 1834 sold to Dr. J. F. Haywood, the elder, for a residence and passed into the hands of the Grimeses in 1887. It has been used as a Y. M. C. A. and home for the Capital Club within the past few decades and has been leased by the State for six or eight years for the use of the department of insurance.

The Building Commission conferred tonight with a number of architects, explaining what is intended to be housed in the building. It is known it is planned to have the State library on the first floor; the hall of history and State historical commission on the second. Probably the State Department of Insurance will be on the third and the Supreme Court and Supreme Court library on the fifth. It is to be a five stories structure equipped amply with elevators.

As little as possible is to be lost in getting at the actual work of construction. Bonds are to be sold July 1, but in the meantime the State Treasurer is borrowing any money needed for preliminary work.

All members of the commission except General Carr were here for the meeting. General Carr is attending the reunion of ex-Confederate veterans at Little Rock. The commissioners here were Chairman Ashley Horne, Clayton; Secretary, William E. Springer, Wilmington; J. A. Long, Roxboro; W. L. Parsons, Rockingham; J. Elwood Cox, High Point and A. S. Rascoe, Bertie county.

"The strawberry is passing," says the Greenville Piedmont. Yes; but the blackberry is on the way to "our midst."

"Swat the damagones," cries the Wilmington Star. That is good advice.
They are as pestiferous as the flies, and almost as dangerous.

The Supreme Court's decision seems to be as popular with the trusts as Woodrow Wilson is among the common people.

"Few politicians could make much of a showing in a reliability contest," says the Greenville Piedmont. They could make a showing in a reliability contest by riding in the automobiles, however.

It is not probable that the Supreme Court will make the tobacco trust smoke. It is easy to see that if the Standard Oil Company is not very bad the American Tobacco Company is good.

Advocates of the Osler theory will doubtless use the case of President Diaz in support of their contentions. If Diaz had been choleraed at sixty years of age the present troubles in Mexico would have been avoided.

Well, anyhow, here's hoping the boys had money enough to appease the wrath of those Durham Officials who were aroused from their accustomed slumbers by the coming into the town of a few automobilists.

It is a shame that the Greensboro Automobilists failed to appreciate their surroundings and slow down when they reached Durham. They shouldn't have waked up those folks down there in any such unceremonious manner.

From the standpoint of the trust magnates all trusts are good and none of them are engaged in unreasonably restraining trade. Likewise, that seems to be just about the same thing as the view of the United States Supreme Court.

Says the Durham Herald: "Those Greensboro gentlemen should not attempt to race through a town that has houses on both sides of the streets." The explanation, however, is probably that the Greensboro gentlemen thought they were driving through a country district.

It is a noticeable fact that the Supreme Court's decision in the Standard Oil case is perfectly satisfactory to those newspapers of the country which are the recognized publicity agents of the trusts. That is one very good reason why the decision should not be approved by the people.

The Charlotte Observer is opposed to Judge Clark for the United States Senate. This will not be a matter of surprise in any quarter. However, the fact that the Observer does not wish to send Judge Clark to the Senate probably does not mean that it is anxious to have him remain on the Supreme Court bench.

SAVING THE MACADAM ROADS.

The Asheville News-Gazette calls attention to a problem which in confronting every section of the State where macadam roads have been constructed.
That is the problem of keeping the roads in repair and preserving them. If roads of this character are given proper attention and kept in repair they will last for decades, but if they are not repaired and kept in good surface condition they will wear out in a few years. There has never been a time in the history of the building of macadam roads when they were subject to as hard usage as at present. This is due to the fact that the sections through which these roads have been constructed are increasing in population and the volume of travel over the roads is increasing. Wagons are heavier than they were formerly and the average weight of the haul is greater. This, however, is not the chief source of additional wear on the macadam roads. The chief source of injury to the roads at present is believed by road experts to be the automobile traffic, which has developed during the past few years. That automobile traffic is destructive of macadam roads there can be no doubt. It is doubtless more destructive than any other character of road traffic or travel and it is rapidly growing heavier and more destructive with the increase of automobile travel, both for business purposes and for pleasure. The Asheville Gazette-News directs attention to this matter as it effects the roads in the vicinity of that city, and what is said of Buncombe county roads will be found to be true of macadam roads everywhere.
The Gazette-News says:

"What can be done to save our Macadam roads? The dressing stone, that has cost so much money, is now a fine power, lying an inch to two inches deep on them; every passing automobile raises a dense cloud of dust, every gust of wind blows it away; the trees and bushes along the way are covered with the white powder.

"Are we to resign ourselves to the rapid destruction of these roads, a chief source of pride to town and county, as something inevitable?

"A year or so ago some experiments were made on the Charlotte street Macadam, near Arlington, with a comparatively cheap road oil, which the manufacturers were trying to sell the Charlotte street people. The effects of this one treatment are still in evidence and that portion of the road seems to hold moisture long after the rest is dry as dust. We do not know whether a practical and cheap oil treatment, that can save the Macadam, can be discovered, but we offer this as a suggestion.

"It seems to us that the condition is one that should enlist the concern of road authorities, civic bodies, public officials and the public generally. If there is anything to be done about it, let's find out what it is, and do it."

Macadam roads everywhere deteriorate by the process mentioned by the Gazette-News. Holes and ruts also wear in the roads unless they are kept perfectly surfaced. Probably the chief source of holes and ruts is the process of converting the fine stone into dust and the blowing away and washing away of this dust. When a hole or rut appears it enlarges, as a matter of course, and the result is a very unsightly and bad place appears in the road in a short time.

The newspapers which are taking up the matter of the wear of macadam roads and the problem of reducing this deterioration to a minimum and are discussing the preservation of the roads are doing the country great service. The warnings thus sounded are most timely.
There will probably be more miles of improved highway constructed in the United States during the next ten years than have been built previously in the entire history of the nation. These roads must be preserved. If they are to last but a few years it will be found that the cost of their construction has exceeded their value to the country; but if they can be preserved in good condition for fifty or a hundred years, the first cost, in the end, will amount to but a fraction of their worth to the country.
This is the problem which confronts the advocates of modern highways and which confronts every community as soon as a road has been improved by surfacing it with macadam or some other kind of road covering.

Guilford county is leading the counties of North Carolina in the effort to solve the problem of preserving the macadam roads. For this purpose the road between Greensboro and High Point has been covered with a top dressing composed of an asphalt preparation. This is used for a two-fold purpose—to improve the surface of the road, and to preserve it and reduce repairs bills. The latter, however, is the chief consideration. Guilford's experiment is being watched with great interest by good roads advocates in this county and elsewhere; and the information gained, it is believed, will prove of great value in enabling the authorities of the county to deal with this question. It is too soon yet to determine what the result of this experiment will be, but so far it is justifying the expectations of those who advocated the adoption of the plan.

The oiling of roads, both paved and with dirt surfaces, for the purpose of keeping down the dust is coming more and more into favor. It has been found that a thorough oiling, even with the crudest of the oil preparations manufactured for this purpose, settles the dust and also helps to preserve the surface of the roads. The oil manufacturers claim that twice a year is often enough to oil the average road; and as a matter of course, by the continuance of the process through several years the efficiency of this treatment would be increased, as some of the oil from each treatment would remain and the accumulation of oil would add to the permanency of the road surface.

The treatment of road surface with oil will undoubtedly, to a large extent, eliminate the dust nuisance and the deterioration of highways by erosion; and will, also, help to preserve road surfaces and minimize the wear which produces ruts and holes. Its use will not altogether take the place of road repairs. It will always be necessary to repair surfaced or paved roads; but if repairs bills can be reduced to a minimum, the end sought will have been obtained.

It seems now to be probable that the covering of the surface of macadam roads with some sort of dressing will make it possible to avoid the expensive system which France found necessary to preserve her roads, which are ac-knowledgeed to compose, as a whole, the greatest and best system of macadam roads in the world. By France's system the roads are mapped out in sections, with superintendents and section gangs, very much after the manner the railroads of this country have adopted for keeping their trackage in repair. These road repairers of France are on the roads and working all the time, and they cover almost every mile of the highways of the entire country every day. Thousands of men are necessary for a system of this kind and necessarily the cost of maintaining the roads of France is great; but France is aware of the fact that the millions which have been spent in building her magnificent system of roads will be lost unless the roads are preserved. To save the investment and to save the roads France has devised a system which is no doubt the best organized and most efficient working plan known in any country on the globe. Its cost is its greatest drawback. If a different system, or another plan, at less expense can be devised it will meet the needs of this country; where the French system, on account of differences in labor conditions and the cost of various items of the expense of road maintenance, would increase the cost beyond what most of the States and counties of the United States would be willing to spend even for the purpose of preserving the roads already constructed.

The importance of road maintenance and road repairing is second only to the importance of road construction, and wherever macadam roads have been built the people are face to face with the first mentioned problem. Hence the importance of these matters, and the necessity which has arisen for giving them intelligent consideration.

CONGRESSMAN STEDMAN'S FIRST SPEECH IN THE HOUSE.

Congressman Charles M. Stedman of the Fifth District delivered his first speech in the House Thursday, as was duly recorded in The Telegram yesterday. This speech was in support of the resolution for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood. In reporting the speech for the Raleigh News and Observer Thomas J. Pence characterized Major Stedman as "the most commanding figure in the House" and said that his speech was splendidly received. This as a matter of course, is right in line with the expectations of Major Stedman's constituents, who are familiar with his capacity and ability and his charm of manner and powers as a speaker.

Major Stedman made a strong plea for the admission of the two remaining territories of the Union to statehood and discussed at some length the constitutions proposed for them should they become States. In the course of his remarks Major Stedman referred to Chief Justice Clark as one of the greatest common law judges of the present era.
He stated his opposition to the recall as applied to the judiciary; but stated that the initiative and referendum would make impossible the control of the governments of the proposed States by plutocracy so long as the people remained honest and incorruptible. The people of Arizona, he said, had discovered no new principle in the referendum and recall, but in these provisions were merely undertaking to reserve for the people powers which have existed and rightfully belonged to the people since the founding of the republic.

Major Stedman disapproved of some of the provisions of the constitutions proposed for the new States. He is strongly opposed to article 19 of the constitution of New Mexico, which makes the amending of the instrument practically impossible; and believes that this and the recall feature of the Arizona constitution should be resubmitted to the vote of the people of the territories. On the whole the speech of the Fifth District Congressman was a notable contribution to the discussion of the statehood bill and is impressive because of its fairness, candor and evident purpose to do justice to all concerned.

Advertising Talks H. G. B.

THE QUESTION IS FRE- QUENTLY ASKED WHY SOME PEOPLE SUCCEED AND WHY OTHERS FAIL?

The wonder is, that often two enterprises start side by side as it were apparently with equal chances for development, the one grows and frequently develops into a powerful institution, the other continues at the same pace and only ekes out an existence.
Conditions may appear to be the same, but upon investigation a look in at the two concerns will show a vast difference, the one will be found to be a veritable hive of push and industry, the other a contented, satisfied and "let well enough alone" sort of a concern. Every point must be taken care of in the building up of a business, every factor must be utilized.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS A GREAT FAC-TOR in the increase and development of the great business institutions of the country. IT IS HARD TO BAL-ANCE THE BIG RESULTS obtained from advertising and the SMALL RESULTS obtained from NON-ADVER-TISING METHODS.

ume of your business, or are you contented with your present returns? Map out your

HINTS FOR THE BOUDOIR

Hints for Health.

Try to secure at least eight hours' sleep a night.
Be careful not to exercise too much, and avoid exhausting feats of strength.
Your bedroom should be thoroughly ventilated, with windows open.
Never take a cold bath immediately upon exercising, and especially avoid going out too soon.

For Pale Cheeks.

"Will you be so kind as to tell me how to obtain rosy cheeks?" asks "Worried." Pale cheeks are usually caused through anemia. This means that the blood is poor, and in order to improve it you should take ten drops of tincture of iron in a little cold water three times a day. Take plenty of beef juice, gravy and underdone meat.

Projecting Lips.

"My bottom lip and the lower part of my mouth projected. Could you tell me how to reduce this?" asks "Laurel." Very often a projecting jaw is caused by holding the mouth in this position, and in this case it can be corrected by always endeavoring to keep the bottom lip well under the upper lip, as this will help to keep the jaw in place. If, however, the jaw bone is quite stiff, I am afraid that you cannot improve matters.

But no one saw the fervent look that Vicious Legislation by the Supreme Court.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Standard Oil case has fatally weakened the Sherman antitrust law. After twenty years of judicial interpretation, which seemed, little by little, to vitalize the law as a means of control of the usurped tyranny of concentrated capital over individual and independent commercial rights, America's high court of justice, in a single decision, has emasculated and reduced to utter impotence the Sherman act.

This decision has done more. It has marked a clear course for the combinations of capital that restrain trade to walk in legality, safety and untechnical iniquity. It has blazed the way for every trust to carry on and extend its mastery of legitimate commerce and the earnings and activities of the citizen without more annoyance than the easiest mock alteration of present methods.

For the present we postpone technical discussion of this decision. We think the moment appropriate only for blunt, frank declaration of fact. We say simply that these assertions are deduced from earnest, careful study of the decision. And assert with positive belief that our deductions will be thoroughly borne out by the results that they will very soon become the fixed belief of the mass of the American people.

Therefore we assert that this decision is the worst blow at human rights in conflict with property rights since Taney's ruling in the Dred Scott case—and with infinitely less constitutional justification.

It is the most flagrant example of the usurpation of the legislative and executive functions by the judiciary in the history of this government.

It marks a destruction of the obsolete theory of "checks and balances" so complete that it would be farcical but for the grave possible effects upon the commercial liberties of citizens and communities.

By this decision, this court arrogates the functions of congress. More than this, it becomes a self-appointed, non-representative and irresponsible legislative body.

For it has written into a national statute words and meanings that the constitutional lawmakers of the nation refused originally to incorporate into the act, and which these lawmakers have steadfastly refused to accept as amendments throughout fourteen years, despite the incessant efforts of the concentrated money power and greed of the country.

This decision means still more. It means that five men among 90,000,000 assumed the power to amend the constitution of the United States—an alteration of fundamental institutions impossible of effect by the united action of the entire executive and legislative departments and expressly reserved for approval by three-fourths of the popular representatives of the sovereign States.

It is a memorable decision. For it is a victory for the present administration, as pronounced as it is a defeat for free, constitutional American government.

Beyond all question, it is a Taft's victory. While wholly under the influence of the men who molded his every action during the first two years of his administration, President Taft, in messages and speeches, repeatedly urged such changes in the Sherman law as would safeguard the favored "good" trusts. A pro-Taft, Tory correspondent of a Tory newspaper is accurate in the statement that:

"There was a time when the president was in favor of some amendment to the Sherman law in the effort to reach this situation. But he finally came to the conclusion that it was impracticable to write the word "unreasonable" into the law, and pointed out that more and more the Supreme Court was tending toward the point where its decisions in trust cases would be based on that construction of the statute."

He expressed regret for this tendency —last January. But meanwhile Mr.
Taft had the unprecedented presidential privilege of naming a chief justice and four new associate justices of the Supreme Court.

And it was Mr. Taft's attorney general, who now acclaims this decision as a government victory, who drew the bill for the president, establishing a special court to pronounce upon the varying "reasonableness" of trust lawbreaking.
This principle congress rejected, but the Supreme Court now enacts.

As the decision was announced to the country, it appears a defeat for the Standard Oil Company. That monopoly was branded criminal. Everybody in America knew that before. And everybody knew that no such decision would have the slightest effect upon the profits or the conduct of Standard Oil, save some rearranged variance of book-keeping methods.

It was under the cover of that proclamation of criminality of the concern, to which the doctrine that "guilt" in person" never has been applied, that the desires of Big Business were met, while the misinformed people were exulting over a nominal victory.

But there were reasons why the crowds around the tickers in New York cheered the decision and why the gamblers put up stock quotations three points yesterday. There were reasons why Attorney General Wickersham, Judge Gary, of the steel trust; Senator Bailey, Congressman Cannon, Chief Counsel Miller, of Standard Oil; Chief Counsel Mayer, of the beef trust; Senator Guggenheim and all such patriots and statesmen who made public comment yesterday were steeped in admiration of the decision.

And that reason, which the people of America have grave need to study, is that prior to this time every court action upon the Sherman law has tended to make clear the meaning of "restraint of trade," and to narrow to fixity and concreteness the definition of the limits of legal formation and conduct of combinations of capital.

The harm of the present decision is its deliberate destruction of all definitions. There are no longer even the old, vague metes and bounds. The legality or criminality of any combination, large or small, in big or little restraint of trade, no man now can measure until each specific case has been passed upon finally by the Supreme Court.—Philadelphia North American.

HERE IS HEARST'S VIEW.

Opinion on Standard Oil Decision Almost An Echo of La Follette's Remarks in Interview.

The practical effect of the Standard Oil decision is to reduce the Sherman Anti-Trust law to punk and putty.
The Supreme Court has nullified the single important Federal statute on the trust question—has destroyed the nation's chief defense against interstate monopolies.

Thus the whole trust problem is thrown wide open for the people to take, up anew and settle definitely, for the Supreme Court's latest ruling leaves it more unsettled than ever.

The Sherman act as it now stands—bathed in an ineffable "light of reason" —is of no more earthly use than the seraphim. It is a creature of pure idealism. Its claws are cut and its teeth are drawn.

It is evident that the Standard Oil Company has suffered no setback in its career of aggression and that its officers feel no discomfiting reproach.

"Convicted" under a criminal statute which provided both fine and imprisonment as penalties of guilt, its officers are neither fined nor imprisoned, and the general counsel of the trust, Mr. Elliott, gives out an official statement in which he says that "the Standard Oil Company will obey the decree of the court and all the companies embraced in the court's decree will carry on their business as usual under the direction of their own officers and through their own corporate organization."

The Supreme Court has reversed the national Legislature. It has also reversed itself. For this idea of putting a weasel-word into the Sherman act is old. It has a judicial history about as long as its legislative record. And up to this week the Supreme Court has steadily and consistently refused to amend the life out of the law by putting into it the word "unreasonable."

The Supreme Court does not decide that the Sherman law is unconstitutional, although that pretext in times past has been sufficient to upset many measures in the interest of the people.

The Supreme Court goes a step farther now and says merely that the Sherman law does not mean what it says, that the word "unreasonable," although it does not appear in the law, ought to be there.

The frequent refusals of Congress to place the word "unreasonable" in the law are overridden by the Supreme Court, which places the word in the law for Congress.

If the Sherman law is not the best way of regulating the trusts, it is for Congress, not the Supreme Court, to decide how they shall be regulated. And Congress must now begin from the beginning and determine how the trusts shall be regulated.

The country has had the trust cattle in a field surrounded by the wooden fence of the Sherman law. The Supreme Court has decided that the cattle shall be restrained by a stone fence and not by a wooden fence.

The Supreme Court has removed the wooden fence and as yet no stone fence has been built; the trust cattle are at large.

It is the immediate duty of Congress to re-erect the wooden fence of the Sherman law, or to build the stone fence of real trust control.
The stone fence of adequate trust regulation is probably better than the temporary wooden structure of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

We must recognize that combination in business is legitimate and can be beneficial, in view of which the government should proceed to make combination legitimate and compel it to be beneficial.

The Democratic Congress is in session. Let it take up this question without delay.—New York American.

HE WAS ON THE WHITE LIST

Newcomer Learned Why, Having Subscribed, He Never Was Serenaded by the Local Band.

A Frenchman bought a house in the country, and had hardly settled there when the local band called and asked for his subscription to its funds. He put his name down for contribution, which, as he understood, entitled him to be serenaded on Sundays. Sundays came and went. The band played at various houses, but never at his. Finally, the London Telegraph says, the band called, not to play, but to collect the donor's subscription. He said: "But you have never played to me." The bandmaster looked surprised. "What does monsieur think of us? Does he suppose that if we had played we should ask him for money? Monsieur evidently does not know our band. Monsieur, having promised a generous contribution, is on our white list, that of the supporters whom we spare."

Early Weapons.

The earliest weapons of mankind—the cutting, thrusting, hacking and stabbing variety—were undoubtedly suggested by the natural weapons of the animals—the tusks of the boar, elephant and walrus, the sword of the swordfish and norwhal, the pointed antlers of the deer and the short horns of the steer. In fact, it is well known that these weapons, taken directly from the fruits of the chase, were actually employed by men before they made for themselves any other weapon than the club. The sword is simply the buffalo's long curved horn made into steel and flattened out, just as the dirk is deer's antler made out of the same material, and on to the end of the chapter.

The Student Who Grinds.

Despite the illustrious instances of Bacon and Milton and a hundred other immortals who broke away with contempt or fine carelessness from the beaten paths of college discipline, statistics recently gathered from the records of distinguished Cornell alumni show the great majority of them were the so-called "grinds" among their school-mates.

The brilliant and dashing type of student, according to these figures, has more frequently lapsed into mediocrity or has fallen by the wayside, while the chap who dug for what he got has pressed steadily on to success.

It is a sad thing to be a "grind," either in school or out of school. But this record is, nevertheless, worthy of attention. A combination of digging and dash is perhaps the most satisfactory blend.—Atlanta Journal.

EDUCATED PORK WAS GOOD

And the Circus Property Man Searched for Reuben, the Pet Pig, In Vain.

Reuben, a much advertised educated pig belonging to the John Robinson circus, which was showing in this city recently, is no more, says a Cincinnati dispatch to the New York Tribune. His fate was kept secret for a week, for more or less obvious reasons. Hal Newport, the clown of the circus, who appeared nightly in the sawdust arena with the pig, said:

"That pig could do anything but talk, and could nearly do that, as he spelled his name with letter blocks. All was confusion the night we broke camp at Terrace Park. We had pork chops for supper, and they were particularly delicious. We were all eating our heads off, when the property man rushed in and cried that Reuben had vanished."

"He got mixed up with those pigs that were sent from the stock yards," he gasped.

"Was one of those pigs a white one, with black polka dots?" I asked the cook.

"It was," he replied.

"Then we have eaten Reuben," I cried.

"The property man is no longer attached to the circus."

The Passion Play.

The now world-famous "Passion Play" at Oberammergau is said to have had its origin, about 1833, in the deep contrition of mind born of a great pestilence. Certain survivors of the plague resolved that ever afterward, at stated intervals, they would celebrate the "Passion of Christ" as a token of their reverential gratitude. Beginning on a small scale, the play gradually grew in importance until it is now known all over the world, having visitors from pretty nearly every civilized country on earth. While Oberammergau is still, and will probably remain, the center of the institution, Passion plays are beginning to be established in the surrounding regions, notably in Switzerland.

Henry L. Stimson, New Member Of President Taft's Cabinet

Henry Lewis Stimson, who recently succeeded Jacob M. Dickinson as secretary of war in the Taft cabinet, has a notable record for a man of his years, forty-four. As United States district attorney he conducted the successful prosecution of the celebrated sugar fraud cases and also secured the conviction of Charles W. Morse, the bank wrecker. He was formerly the law partner of Senator Elihu Root. He was the Republican candidate for governor of New York in 1910, but was defeated by John A. Dix.

Giant Shark Had Jaws Large Enough to Swallow Men Whole

THIS mouth of a gigantic shark, in which several men are able to stand upright, is a "restoration" made by scientists, who used the teeth as a basis from which to construct the jaws. The teeth—200 of them—were found in a perfect state of preservation in a phosphate bed in South Carolina. Their size enabled students to tell accurately the size of the jawbones that held them, and in the same way they decided that the shark that once used them was at least eighty feet long. The teeth were sent to the Museum of Natural History in New York, and there they were set in plaster jaws in the order they originally occupied in the jaws of a shark that could truthfully be called a man eater. This huge fish lived during the eocene epoch, at a time that the Atlantic coast was slowly rising from the ocean and the American continent was assuming its present form. Contemporaneous with this huge shark are found bones of the "eohippus," the earliest known direct ancestor of the horse.

Silenced the Ringleader.

The head teacher in a Sunday school was much worried by the noise of the pupils in the next room. At last, unable to bear it any longer, he mounted a chair and looked over the partition. Seeing a boy a little taller than the others talking a great deal he leaned over, hoisted him over the partition and banged him into a chair in his room, saying:

"Now, be quiet."

A quarter of an hour later a smaller head appeared around the door and a meek little voice said:

"Please, sir, you've got our teacher."

A prude is a girl who always knows a lot of things she shouldn't know.

"YES, I'M A GREAT AUTHOR"

Reade, Balzac and Sue Puffed Their Own Works as Being Fine Literature.

Authors in "the good old days" were not above writing their own puffs, a writer in the Bohemian says, Charles Reade wrote a long article on himself for Once a Week, in which he said: "It is impossible to speak too highly of 'The Cloister and the Hearth.' It is one of the most scholarly and learned as well as one of the most artistic and beautiful works of fiction in any language. Read him. Rejoice yourself to the magic spell of his genius. The effect of 'Foul Play' is perfectly marvelous. It leaves the stories of every other sensational writer far behind."

Nor was Balzac in France above praising his own works. "If you have not been born a story teller," he wrote in a review, "you will never obtain the popularity of M. de Balzac. And what a story teller! What nerve and wit! How the world is dissected by this man! What passion and coolness!"

But the height of literary advertisement in the first half of the last century was reached in the case of Eugene Sue's famous novel, "The Wandering Jew." Every little while the daily installment in the newspaper in which it was appearing would be missing, and in its place would be an announcement that M. Sue was suffering from a slight indisposition and readers would be obliged to wait 48 hours for new developments of the narrative. "And all the while Sue himself was industriously abetting the publishers by posing overdressed and with spurs in his boots at the Cafe de Paris in an attitude of deepest abstraction, as if wondering what the next installment would be about."

He Snored into Safety.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., is in the field with this story: Michael Benner of Plains owes his life to the fact that he can snore loud enough to be heard some distance away. Early one morning Policeman Schneider of North Wilkesbarre heard snores coming from the direction of the Lehigh Valley railroad tracks, and fearing that some one might be asleep on the tracks, and knowing that an express train was about due, he investigated. Guided by the snoring he came upon Benner asleep, just in time to pull him from the track before the train thundered by. Benner can thank his snore for saving his life, and Wilkesbarre can congratulate herself that she has a policeman who knows a snore when he hears it.

To the fat lady life should be anything but a dreary waist.

Interpreting Our Laws.
Ellen, whose family in the old country had known her by the more prosaic name of Ellen, lost no opportunity of promulgating all the freedoms of the new country that came her way. Sometimes they took an inverted form of handing out orders to her mistress. "Ye'll be careful, mum, that yez puts no paper in th' garbage bucket; thim is orders, mum, frum th' garbage gintlem'n."

Why Australia Has Thrived.
We believe it to be the case that the conditions of Australia, where reward is more proportionate to ability and effort, and less dependent than in an old country upon birth and favor, lead to the development among natives of the commonwealth, on the average, of greater activity of mind and body than is found among the natives of the United Kingdom.—British Australasian.

Aurora Borealis.
According to a theory recently enunciated, the aurora borealis is formed of cathode rays, emitted by the sun and deflected by the terrestrial magnetic field in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The velocity of these cathode rays must be nearly equal to that of light, and very much greater than the velocity of cathode rays produced in the laboratory. Leonard concludes that these extremely "hard" cathode rays are emitted by unknown radio-active substances in the sun.

FARMERS USING MORE CHECKS

Gratifying information secured from Government Sources Regarding Banks as Depositories.
From a government source comes the gratifying information that more farmers are using the banks as places for depositing their funds than ever before. This is a marked indication that the farmers are becoming better business men. Incidentally it also indicates that they have more money to put into the banks.

The use of checks in business is not alone a great convenience and a safeguard in the matter of receipts, but tends toward dignity and order. And this we regard as of prime importance, particularly among farmers whose business is too often conducted loosely.

A clear idea as to how little real money is used in a business may be had from the following figures compiled by the National Monetary commission:
Out of the total retail deposits in five states amounting to $4,894,181, the proportion of checks was 72.8 per cent; currency, 21.8 per cent, and specie 6.4 per cent. The percentage in each state in the order of the highest ratio of checks was: Nebraska, 78.5 per cent; Iowa, 75.2 per cent; Kansas, 74.4 per cent; Illinois, 70.5 per cent, and Texas, 68.5 per cent. Other states, like North Dakota and South Dakota, show a similar condition of affairs.

UNCLE SAM TO RAISE HORSES

War Department Plans to Have Government Buy 100 Stallions to Breed Cavalry Animals.

Uncle Sam is going into the horse-breeding business. If the plans of the war department are carried out, the government will purchase 100 stallions. These will be assigned to a number of stations throughout the country in charge of experienced cavalrymen as stud-grooms, and will be bred to suitable mares, wherever these may be found. The government will have an option on the foals when three years old, at a price agreed on before the animal is bred.

Two thousand cavalry horses will be available by this plan every year. This is the number of remounts necessary for the present strength of the army. The constantly decreasing number of people that ride horseback, and the displacement of the horse car by the trolley, make this step necessary, if the cavalry is to continue to be a part of the standing army. What the department would do for remounts in case of war is hard to say. Five hundred fresh horses a day was the quota called for in one year of the Civil war.

To Restore Fertility.

To restore fertility sow a mixture of oats and peas early in the spring, plow down just before the oats ripen and sow to the acre 15 pounds of crimson clover and a half bushel of oats. Plow again in the first part of October and sow to rye, adding such grass seeds as desired, and in March of the next spring broadcast eight pounds of red clover seed to the acre. If all of the plowing and harrowing are done thoroughly the soil will be in good shape to produce grass. If a dressing of 300 pounds per acre of guano and 25 bushels of wood ashes per acre each year is used, and if this course is pursued for three or four years the fertility of the soil will be restored so it will produce a large yield of corn.

Inventor of Musical Glasses.

Richard Peckrich, an Irishman, was the inventor of musical glasses—ordinary drinking glasses tuned by selection and played by passing wet fingers over the brim. He showed his invention first in Dublin, and took it to London about 1750.

Spray, Spray and Spray Again.
Spray, spray and forever spray if you would save the fruit of your orchard, field and garden. Countless days of labor of men and women are lost, hope turns to disappointment and ambition blighted because of the unchecked ravages of insects and disease. The vital importance of spraying is beginning to be realized by fruit and vegetable growers, but all too slowly. Not one-half of the fruit crop of the country is sound when taken from the trees. The loss runs into millions of dollars every year and this could be minimized by the constant and intelligent use of the sprayer.

Notes of the Sheepfold.
Sheep do not require much shelter except to keep off the rain. I always put my flock up in falling weather except during the summer when it is hot and the rain is a relief to them, says a writer in an exchange.
It is best to leave them out in the coldest weather, except of course at lambing time when they must be sheltered.
Lambs will stand the cold better than any other young animals and there is not much difficulty in saving them if they get full of their mother's milk once.

Feeding Ensilage.
It is essential that after a silo is opened and fed therefrom, its surface be kept fresh and not allowed to mould, as it almost inevitably will do in one so large, unless the number of the animals fed correspond to the size. Furthermore, the ensilage feed should be given after milking in order to avoid an undesirable flavor in the milk.
To Prevent Scab.
Here is the formula for treating seed potatoes to prevent scab: Soak the whole seed for two hours in a mixture of one-half pint of formalin (formaldehyde) and 15 gallons of cold water; dry the seed, cut and plant in ground that has not recently grown potatoes.

Dirt and Disease.
Dirt is the "perfect culture" of all disease and of all that delights in distaste. There the microbes of all plagues live and move and have their being undisturbed by the broom or the mop, unafraid of the smell of soap, and never awakened from their rest by the light from any lamp of knowledge that constitutes the science of modern times.

Flower Keeps Its Freshness.
A common South African flower possesses the valuable property of keeping fresh for two months or more after cutting. It is a white star of Bethlehem, producing a compact spike of flowers on a stiff, erect stalk 18 inches or two feet long. The flowers are of a thin and papery tissue, all white except the yellow anthers. It can be sent over as a cut flower from South Africa to England, and then lasts for weeks in water.

Not To Be Judged by Size.
An interesting and somewhat curious fact is that some of the tall men of genius have had moderate sized heads. Shelley, the poet, was tall, but had a small head, and some of the small men imbued with the divine spark had large heads, apparently proving that the size of the head has little to do with the quality of the brains.

Latest Idea in Rope.
A company has patents covering a rope made of several strands of paper covered with galvanized steel wire. The rope thus produced is strong, tough and flexible, suitable for clothes lines and such uses. It is claimed that a rope of this kind will withstand the action of the weather 50 per cent longer than cotton.

Nervous Women

For nervous, tired women, we recommend Cardui. Cardui is a woman's medicine. It acts specifically on the female organs and has a tonic, building effect on the whole system. It contains no harmful ingredients, being a pure vegetable extract. If you suffer from some form of female trouble, get Cardui at once and give it a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. W. W. Gardner, of Paducah, Ky., tried Cardui and writes: "I think Cardui is just grand. I have been using it for eleven years. I am 48 years old and feel like a different woman, since I have been taking it. I used to suffer from bearing down aches, nervousness and sleeplessness, but now the pains are all gone and I sleep good. I highly recommend Cardui for young and old." Try it.

How One City Destroys The Flies

San Antonio, Texas, May 19.—Special.—Hauling flies out of town by the wagon load as a means of getting rid of them may be new sanitary procedure, but such is possible is emphasized in the city every day. It has been remarked many times that San Antonio has fewer flies than any other city in the country. This is not due to the fact that there are no places where this insect may breed, for in this city, as in all others, there are many places in propagation. For years it has been a custom of the city to employ wagons to go from house to house daily and remove garbage. This garbage is hauled to a point outside the city where it is burned, the fires for this purpose being kept going all the year round. The burning place is not a crematorium in the common acceptance of that term, but just an open field where the burning takes place. Every day as the wagons pass out of the city, the garbage they contain is sometimes almost black with flies. These, of course, are hauled so far out they never get back and are soon destroyed in the burning garbage heaps. In addition to those hauled out, the larvae which is deposited in garbage goes out, too, and is burned. People as a rule are very careful to keep all garbage, or trash about their places where flies may be produced, thrown into the garbage tubs. By this means millions of these pestiferous insects are prevented, and those which are grown to a mischievous age follow the garbage wagons to the country. After a careful investigation, it is the belief of the sanitary authorities that the practice of hauling garbage outside the city and burning it is one of the surest ways of getting rid of the house fly, which is known today to be a disease breeder. Thus it is proven that the best way "to swat the fly" is to give him free transportation out of town on the garbage wagons. By so doing, cities get rid of a large per cent. of flies while their activities are most dangerous and also prevent millions daily from ever reaching a period of mischief and annoyance.

END BOWEL MISERY WITH A CASCARET

Never Any Headache, Bilioousness, Indigestion, or Constipation—No More Miserable Days After This.

This is the day of the gentle in medicine. The cathartic pill is old-fashioned. Salts and castor oil belong to grandmother's time. The modern doctor deals mildly. Cascarets are effective, yet gentle. They don't irritate or gripe. They don't like cathartics, waste the digestive fluids.

Cascarets do only what some foods will do, what some fruits will do, what exercise does for the bowels. Their action is natural, not artificial. If you live outdoors, exercise a great deal, and avoid rich foods, you don't need them. Otherwise you do.

The most helpful laxative ever devised is Cascarets. They are candy tablets, pleasant to take. Then, they are convenient. The ten-cent box fits the vest pocket or the lady's purse. That is a vital point. The time to take a laxative is the minute you suspect that you need it. Don't wait till you get home; don't wait till night. One Cascaret, taken at any time, makes you feel great and they cost only 10c. per box.

Six Hundred Shots a Minute Can Be Fired From This Gun

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

WHILE the soldiers are mobilized in Texas, learning something practical about camp life and various phases of war, they are making themselves familiar with the newest types of machine guns. Here is a Maxim-Nordenfeld that fires 600 shots a minute. The bullets pour out of the muzzle in an almost solid stream once the gun is started. The force of the recoil is used to work the mechanism which feeds the belt containing the cartridges. When in use the noise made by the gun becomes a continuous whir or buzz. The man behind the gun can aim it as easily and as accurately as he could any rifle, and as he can see what the bullets are doing he can direct them much as he would a stream of water in sprinkling a lawn with a garden hose. One who watches this gun in action cannot help but wonder what would have happened had Napoleon possessed such a weapon and plenty of ammunition. And what would have been the execution at Gettysburg, Shiloh or Petersburg if one or both armies had been equipped with such death dealing guns? Sir Hiram Maxim, the inventor of the gun, believed that he had done much for the cause of peace by making war costly and horrible, and it is possible that he was right.

Ship Whittled From Bones of Soldiers by Prisoner of War

THIS ship, made of bones, is a graphic illustration of the horrors of war, for the bones of which the little craft is made were obtained from the bodies of Union soldiers who died in Libby prison during the civil war. Dr. Martin Rizer modeled the ship, using only a small knife. He was himself a prisoner, and time hung heavily on his hands. He made the ribs of the ship of the ribs from human beings, their natural curve giving the vessel its form. The masts and crosspieces were made from the small bones of arms, and the keel was whittled from a shin bone. The vessel is about eighteen inches long. After the war Dr. Rizer returned to his home in Pennsylvania, taking his gruesome relic with him. Twenty years ago he died, and his wife and daughter presented the relic to Grebel post, G. A. R., in Philadelphia. The upper picture shows Libby prison as it was during the war, when hundreds of soldiers were incarcerated there. The building was a tobacco warehouse before it was turned into a prison.

LIFE IN A PERUVIAN VALLEY

Annie S. Peck Describes Home in Heart of the Mountains, Where She Was Entertained.

My home in this wonderful valley, where for weeks on three separate expeditions, I have been hospitably entertained, is for the most part a house of a single story built around two courts or patios. Arriving on foot or horseback, one passes through a wide vestibule into a large patio surrounded by a covered corridor or veranda and the principal rooms of the dwelling. The drawing room is furnished with Brussels carpet, large mirror, marble-topped tables, and expensive upholstered furniture. A piano, too, is here, as in every house where I was entertained. The stranger coming, as he must, on horseback, 90 miles from the seaport of Casma or Samanco up over the Black range and down into the valley, will wonder how the great mirrors, the piano, the heavy French furniture, were brought to this town, to which no railroad or carriage road leads. Neither mule nor burro, the ordinary freight carriers here, can transport a piano on his back. From Samanco a cart road leads 30 miles to Moro. For the remaining 60 miles, up over a pass as high as the top of the Matterhorn, 14,700 feet, and down a steep path to the valley, the piano is borne on the shoulders of men. Luckily for the gentlefolk, labor is cheap—30 cents a day.—Annie S. Peck, in Harper's Bazar.

IT WAS A TRAGEDY, ANYWAY

How Professor Branefog Got Tangled Up in Carrying Out His Wife's Instructions.

The people didn't merely look at Professor Branefog—they stared. He knew he was absent minded at times, and he wondered whether he had rubbed his face with boot polish instead of cold cream after he had shaved, or whether he had forgotten to change his dressing gown for his frock coat.

But a kind policeman put things right. "Are you aware, sir, that you are carrying a joint of beef in your arms?" he asked.

"Goodness me!" said the professor. "I knew something was wrong. My wife told me to put her Sunday hat on the bed, to place this joint in the oven and to take the baby and the dog out for a walk."

"You've not put the baby in the oven, surely?" said the law's guardian. "I put something in it," said Branefog; "but I don't know whether it was the baby or the dog."

With bated breath they hurried to the professor's house. Here, on the bed, lay the baby and the dog; but it was just as bad for Branefog. It was his wife's Sunday hat that was in the oven!

Taking a Big Risk.

It was well known in Mayville that when Cyrus Fanning lent anything from a hammer to a plow, he expected a good return for the favor. It was a matter for astonishment to Wilson Green, however, when, on inquiring of Mr. Fanning how much it would cost to rent his long ladder for an afternoon, Cyrus replied promptly: "One dollar fifty."

"Now, look here, Cy," remonstrated his neighbor, "you know I've got to borrow it, for mine isn't long enough to reach where I'm obliged to climb to search out that chimney leak for the Widow Sears. Can't you make it less?"

"No, I can't," and Mr. Fanning shook his small head and closed his obstinate mouth.

"Why can't you?" demanded Wilson Green.

"Because there's a weak place in it two-thirds the way up," snapped Mr. Fanning. "It'll bear my weight all right, but you're a good thirty pounds heavier. If it gave way under you 'twould cost me a dollar to get it mended. Considering the risk, I call a dollar 'n' half cheap."—Youth's Companion.

How Oyster Islands Are Formed.

Oyster islands, similar to those formed of coral, are found in several parts of the world. The islands in Newport river and Beaufort Harbor, North Carolina, says a writer in the Century Path Magazine, have been discovered to have as base a reef to which the spawn were attached and above this layer upon layer of oysters, vegetable growth, and debris brought by the action of the waves and winds, all of which finally grows high enough to rise above the surface of the water. This growth is exactly analogous to that of the coral islands of the Pacific.

The islands near the mouth of the River Tagus in Portugal are said to have been built up in this way also. Here, where there is such a quantity of oysters that 100 million a year would scarcely be missed if they were removed, the expanse of water just beyond the river's mouth is dotted with oyster islands. As in the case of the coral reefs, which on the seaward side may be covered with living, growing coral, live oysters thrive in the same waters where the accumulation of dead generations has served to form the islands.

Reasons Why

Dr. Carey's Life Tone Tablets ARE THE MEDICINE YOU NEED

Because They feed the nerves with the proper kind of food. The nerve cells are the source of supply of nerve force, they give power to the entire nerve system. If we do not feed them well they become exhausted and we suffer from lost vitality.

Because They are a scientific combination of roots and herbs especially prepared to restore to the person "who has grown old, through excess, dissipation, social duties or business cares a perfect condition of health and power of endurance.

Because They are not a patent medicine but a prescription that has been used in the private practice of a well known specialist in combating the ills of lost vitality, weakness, impotency, insomnia and brain fog covering a period of over forty years.

Because DR. CAREY'S LIFE TONE TABLETS are a healthy, natural food for the nerves and are not a temporary stimulant like the most of advertised remedies, they give quick, positive and permanent results.

BECAUSE

Dr. Carey's Life Tone Tablets are a purely herbal preparation and contain no morphine, opiate or harmful habit forming drugs. They are pure and healthful.

DR. CAREY'S LIFE TONE TABLETS as their name implies are the most wonderful system tonics known to medical science. The tonic is wonderful, they supply just the proper food to the blood, brain and nerves that is absolutely necessary to impart perfect health and strength.

New Superintendent Named For The Annapolis Naval Academy

CAPTAIN JOHN H. GIBBONS, the new superintendent of the Naval academy at Annapolis, is a native of Michigan and until his recent appointment to the Annapolis post was a member of the naval general board, on duty in Washington. His last command was the cruiser Charleston, and he had previously been naval attaché at London. Captain Gibbons succeeded Captain John M. Bowyer at Annapolis, who resigned on account of ill health, according to the official announcement. It was stated that Captain Bowyer's resignation had nothing to do with the recent slight to a daughter of Professor Beers of Yale. She was a guest at a dance at Annapolis, and an uncomplimentary remark was made about her which threatened to become the subject of a congressional inquiry. By direction of the secretary of the navy Captain Bowyer wrote an apology to Miss Beers. Captain Bowyer will not leave the navy, but will be assigned to duties less arduous than those at Annapolis.

The Trimmer's Trick.

I took the trouble to watch a trimmer fill a basket with ordinary potatoes, writes "Tip" in the New York Press. He took an enormous potato too big to sell to any wise buyer. He put this potato on end with crowns up in the basket and then he built upon it a kind of trestlework or bridge, piling on the fine sized, nice, round baking boys on top. When the customer buys, the potatoes are poured as quickly as a flash into a big bag and it is only when the housewife gets home that she finds the giant-sized potato nearly filling the bag, and she wakens up when she cuts up the big, fat boy for boiling. As a rule, the big ones have a great big hollow heart and insides as black as a man's hat. Nowadays they are selling tomatoes and other truck on baskets, not in them. They take a nice big bag of paper and fill up the basket to the top and then pile in the produce and put on the price.

trunk?" asked the prospective purchaser. "It holds four trays," explained the salesman.

Venice.

Of the books about Venice there is no end. For the historian the "Queen of the Adriatic" has always possessed a peculiar charm, and there are many number of histories of the great republic. Of course the great repository of information concerning the Venetian republic is the "Archives of Venice," published at intervals throughout the years and still being regularly added to. In order to become posted on the "monetary system of the Venetian Republic" one would have to wade through many works bearing generally upon Venetian history. There is no single exhaustive work along that particular line, but in nearly all of the histories of the republic may be found something illustrative of her wonderful financial system.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Greensboro People.

Too many Greensboro citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills help sick kidneys.

The following statement should convince every Greensboro reader of their efficiency.

F. C. Remfry, 512 S. Main St., High Point, N. C., says: "I was in such a miserable condition with kidney trouble that I did not believe there was any cure for me. My back and limbs were so sore that I could not get up after sitting without assistance and it was impossible for me to go about easily.
The kidney secretions were also scanty and highly colored. I doctored and took medicine faithfully, but I did not improve. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the contents of three boxes made a permanent cure."

"What a strangely interesting face your friend the poet has," gurgled the married and didn't know it," growled the Cynical Bachelor.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroad men:
"As conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

"Have you any piscatorial diversion here?" asked the boarder from Boston.
"I can't say rightly as we have," replied Farmer Punkinseed. "We ain't much on them new-fashioned games up here, but my son kin show you where there's some good fishin'."

In the Wake of the Measles.

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says:
"One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, Whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes.

"Oh, for a drink from the old oaken

GENUINE ECZEMA CURE.

New Remedy That Cures Eczema Quickly.

Howard Gardner has sold hundreds of jars of Hokara in the last few weeks, and although he offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar has been returned.

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing to him is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scabs, scabs and even bleeding itching have found relief and cure in Hokara.

17-YEAR LOCUSTS AT HAND.

Entomologists Say Myriads Are Ready to Begin Havoc in June.

Millions upon millions of cicadas are said by entomologists of the American Museum of Natural History to be laying in wait for a grand carnival of devastation a little later in the season, to be carried on throughout New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, with special centres of disaster in New Jersey and Staten Island.

That the people may know what kind of devastators the cicadas are the entomologists explain that they are the old familiar visitors known as 17-year locusts, and that the proof that there are millions of them getting ready for their summer's work lies in the fact that their larvae have been found all the way from Nyack to the Battery.

The grubs should be emerging into full-fledged foliage destroyers about June 15 in this neighborhood, while in Virginia, where they also do great damage, they may be expected to emerge a week or two sooner, according to the weather.—New York World.

Finally we tried Dr. King's New Disfects. The pain left my back, my kidbetter I do not hesitate to recommend Foley Kidney Remedy." For Sale by

Talk to Mothers.

There is need in the home for cuts, bruises, sores and sprains, children and others are heirs to a real good antiseptic liniment, one which will not burn and hurt worse than the wound itself, and which will give the greatest relief and prevent scars. Vick's Liniment is prepared for this purpose. Take this suggestion from a trained druggist who knows.

"What's all the excitement over there on the corner? Somebody hurt?"

"Worse'n that. One of th' boys has just discovered in the sportin' columns that there's a mistake of two points in McGoochey's battin' record."—Cleveland

A Spring Suggestion by a Trained Druggist.

Appendicitis and many other ills come from Constipation and over-loading with food which the system cannot care for.
The bowels must be cleared and antisepticized to give their normal functions and this should not be done by strong Cathartics, as every physician will tell you. Vick's Little Liver Pills have been the bowels and mild stimulation to the lazy liver and thus cure trouble in adults and children.

take his share of the punishment."—

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.

It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PLOMA.

This is the tenth week we have published the "Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lessons," and we have heard nothing but commendation, both for the questions themselves, and for the enterprise of The Telegram in establishing in this county a Local Club of the International Press Bible Question Club. Two results, among many others, may be mentioned—first, a great many are taking up the home study of the Sunday School Lessons, and second, the attendance at Bible Classes has increased. This last-mentioned result can, however, be quadrupled if Bible Class teachers and scholars will tustle for new members, making the I. P. B.
Q. C., its easy course of study, and its valuable prizes the rallying cry. There is no reason why this county cannot carry the banner in this contest, and win some of the Gold Medals. There will be a beautiful engraved Diploma, printed in three colors, presented to every member of our Local Club who completes the course of study, whether winning any other prize or not. This Diploma will certify that the holder has studied the lesson literature.

Each person entering this contest will need The Telegram. Subscribe today, or if already a subscriber, send the paper to some other person. Use the attached

Baby Talk.

The other day a visitor surprised a distinguished professor, who was saying to his baby:

"On-ny, no-ny, he mussy tick his foot-sy tootsies."

Just then he caught sight of the visitor, blushed, and muttered:

"No, no; you must not expose your pedal extremities by extending them beyond the protective covering of the blankets, or you will lay your system open to attacks of catarrhal affection."

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayons, and lowlands.
These are the malarial germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these venomous germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lacrosse, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy

Tommy Had No Vision.

A teacher in a town in the country is noted for his patriotic fervor. One day, in class, while in a particularly uplifted mood, he turned to one of his pupils, an average English boy of 12.

"Now, Tommy," said he, "tell us what you would think if you had seen the union jack waving proudly over the field of battle."

"I should think," replied Tommy,
"that the wind was blowing."

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under.
The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country.

His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and deli-Laymen's Organization.

The Laymen's Co-operative Committee for Mount Airy met at the call of the chairman Monday night at Central Methodist church to hear from Mr. John McEachern, the newly elected field sec-

North Carolina, as to plans for organiz-

Mr. McEachern comes by appointment of the Executive Committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the United States and Canada, and is the first State field secretary sent out.
North Carolina thus enjoys the distinction of being the first State to have its own special field organizer, and Surry county is the first county in the State to be organized, and thus the first definite unit of territory to be organized in the world.

To this end it was decided to hold in this city on June 23, 24 and 25 a big convention for Surry county, that shall have as its aim the representation of every church in the county. Each congregation is invited to send two dele-

MORRISEY PITCHES THE FIRST NO HIT GAME OF SEASON

Twins Unable to Make Single Connection With "Deacon's" Curves Yesterday—Greensboro won 4 to 1—Rube Eldridge will Twirl Today.

To "Deacon" Morrissey belongs the honor of proving that there is no remarkable virtue in the cork-center ball, and he holds the distinction of pitching the first no-hit game in the league this season. His victory over the Twins yesterday's contest at Cone park was in every sense a complete personal triumph. Only 29 men faced him in 9 innings and but for a couple of excusable errors behind him not a Winston man would have reached first. As it was, the Twins made one run, without getting a single hit. Not a man was given a free pass to first by the Deacon. Clean fielding would have given him the distinction of having only 27 men face him and his opponents would have never seen first.

The pitching of Morrissey was the one outstanding feature of the game. Other no-hit games have been pitched on the local diamond, but none is recalled in which the pitcher did not let a few men have bases on balls. The Deacon's work "cinched" his job and gave him a high place in the estimation of the fans. He was at all times cool and deliberate. At the end of several innings he received a spontaneous outburst of applause from the grand stand.

Ray, the big Stokes county twirler started in to do the pitching for the Twins, but was delivered in the second after he had allowed five hits and three runs in one and a third innings. Boyle, who relieved him, did splendid work, allowing only one run and five hits during the remainder of the game.

In the first inning Rickard was hit by a pitched ball and went to first, and was sacrificed to second by Doyle. Fuller went out to third. Bentley came up and landed on the sphere for three bases. Rickard scoring. Doak singled and scored Bentley. Clapp singled and went to second on a passed ball. Doak going to third on the same ball. Carroll flew out to Spencer.

In the second Ware went to first on four bad ones. Morrissey fanned. Rickard and Doyle singled, scoring Ware. Then Ray was relieved by Boyle, who struck out Fuller and Bentley went out to Shumaker.

In the third Doak led off with a single and was sacrificed to second by Clapp. Carroll got a nice single and Doak crossed the rubber. Carroll stole second. Ware was hit by pitcher and got first, also a hurt that kept him from catching the rest of the game. Morrissey got a walk and this filled the bases, but did not get to score. Rickard flew out to first and Doyle was out second to first. This ended the locals run-getting.

The Twins made their only run in the fifth. Spencer was safe on Carroll's error. Shumaker reached first the same way, advancing Spencer. Yates hit to Carroll, forcing Shumaker at second. Clancy hit to short and forced Yates at second. Spencer scoring on the play. Cahill flew out to Clapp. This was the only inning in which a man on the Twins team got to first.

Bentley, Fuller and Doak were effective with the stick. Carroll, the new man who is playing temporarily at short, also got a hit when it scored a man. The Twins did not make much by hitting to Carroll, for he accepted seven out of nine chances and the two he missed were not easy ones by any means, but could hardly be dignified to the place of hits. Short is not Carroll's regular place, and in a few days Corwin will go to the outfield.

There was a good attendance yesterday.

CHARLOTTE MADE IT 14 TO 1 YESTERDAY

Charlotte, May 19.—With Sheesley, a new find of Manager Cross going in great style, and the Hornets' batting like fiends, the second of the series with Anderson was easily won this afternoon by the locals. The score was 14 to 1. Charlotte made fourteen hits, four doubles and a triple. The game was not an interesting one, being entirely too one-sided, the visitors playing without snap or ginger. DIAMOND DUST

On top again.

Game today commences at 4:15.

Our hats are off to "Deacon" Morrissey.

Winston was the victim of the first no-hit game of the season.

Carroll pulled down some swift ones at short yesterday.

Eldridge will give the Twins some of the same medicine he fed the Hornets.

We extend a hearty welcome to those who are coming from the Twin City today, but we can't promise them any comfort.

When "Deacon" Morrissey goes on the knoll against the Twins next they will no doubt at once surrender gracefully.

Wanted—An umpire—one who can see the plate and the ball, and get an idea of their relation and proximity.

Richmond Reid is eminently just in his decisions on bases, but he gets his optics crossed when he watches the ball passing the plate.

Only 29 men faced Morrissey yesterday, and the Twins are still wondering why they didn't earn a single trip to first.

Charlotte is taking revenge on Anderson for what Greensboro and Spartanburg did to them.

These North Carolina teams are certainly getting the best of those in the Palmetto State.

GREENVILLE, 5; SPARTANBURG, 4

Greenville, S. C., May 19.—By a rally commencing in the fifth, Greenville won the second of the series from Spartanburg, 5 to 4. Griffin was not warmed up in the first and allowed a homer with one on, but he was superb during the remainder of the game. Vickery weakened toward the last. Manager Smith, local, got the longest home run of the season in the fifth with none on. Score was tied in the ninth but a three-bagger following a base on balls gave the game to the Spinners.

Score: R. H. E.
Greenville .. 000 011 021—5 13 2 Spartanburg .. 200 100 001—4 6 2 Batteries: Griffin and Kite; Vickery, Laval and Westlake. Umpire, Nugent.
